It's often believed that the four years you spend at Saint Leo University will be the most profoundly life changing years of your life. Typically, students arrive straight out of high school with a stereotypically adolescent view of the world. As a graduating senior, you've had the opportunity to watch yourself grow and mature from that scared and confused eighteen-year-old at freshman orientation to the enlightened adult you've become sitting beside your classmates, professors, and family at commencement. Congratulations to the class of 2006. You should love and be proud of the person you've become here.

GORGES

Obstacles are those frightful things you see when you take your eyes off your goals.

Marmion and Snyder

For the vast majority of freshmen at Saint Leo University, Marmion and Snyder residence halls are the first buildings they see and what they call home for their first year in college. Secluded from the main campus, first year students are given the unique opportunity to create close friendships with their classmates which in many cases last beyond graduation.

Henderson

As part of Saint Leo University's large-scale plan to drastically change the appearance of the campus, Benoit and Henderson halls underwent the first of the renovations. Residents spent fall semester in Henderson hall while Benoit was being renovated and were treated to beautiful new dormitories when they moved into the freshly redesigned Benoit hall during the spring semester.

Benoit

Alumni

Roderick

Located close to McDonald student center, deChantal Hall, and both of the main academic buildings, Alumni and Roderick are a step up from typical college dorms and offer suite style living. Students involved in athletics take full advantage of the gym, basketball, and tennis courts being just a few steps from their front doors.

The Apartments

This year, Saint Leo unveiled the latest additions to the residence hall family. With buildings one and two having been completed for an entire year, it was time to add two new buildings which can house nearly 400 more students. The proximity to the lake, along with the gorgeous landscaping and beautiful Spanish inspired design, make the apartments at Saint Leo a gorgeous place to live.
